Many Entirely New Styles in Spring Suits Will Be Shown Next Week

MANY new styles in suits, which have not been shown before in El Paso, have arrived this week and will be displayed Monday. Many of these new suits are decidedly "dressy," being embroidered and lace trimmed and cut in many odd effects. Special mention is made of the new Tuxedo effects. We also call your attention to the effective black and white checked suits we are showing. These come in all sizes of checks, including invisible and zigzag checks. Besides this general mention of Spring suits, special mention is made of EL PASO THEATRE. Florence Webster, the young American songbird, who is now being starred at the head of Oscar Hammerstein's big comic opera, organization now presenting "Naughty Marietta" with brilliant success, is a little girl from Indianapolis, Ind., who can place most of her distinguished achievements to the credit of a mean, hateful and malicious laugh. It was that of a jealous schoolmate and it happened about eight years ago, yet that cruel laugh, with its accompanying sneer, is the real cause of Miss Webster being one of the foremost prima donna comedienne of the entire world.

Eight years ago Miss Webster was only 14 years old and stage struck. She ran away from home and joined a comic opera company as chorus girl. After her first performance, she was arrested upon her father's orders and returned to her home. There her parents scolded her and reasoned with her—and probably she would have abandoned her future career except for the schoolmate's laugh, which cut into her like a knife. Of course, all her schoolmates knew of her escapade and arrest. Most of them sympathized with her, but one girl, who was always jealous of Miss Webster and her beaming personality, made witty remarks about Miss Webster, declaring that she would never be a real actress if she lived to be a thousand years old. Miss Webster retorted that she would be a star some day—and her reply was the laugh—a laugh of derision, contempt, disparagement. To Miss Webster, it was the most direct challenge—and she accepted it as such. The next four years witnessed the very hardest study then another professional engagement—with great success, fame—and within two years, complete stardom—and a contemptuous laugh—and moeh hard work, was the cause of all. "Naughty Marietta" will appear at the El Paso theatre March 5 and 6; matinee March 6.—Advertisement.

"MAN ZELLE," A FRENCH NOVELTY. The great French novelty, "Man Zelle," has been secured by manager Glass for his company, and the first performance will be given on Monday night. This is unquestionably the greatest amusement surprise ever attempted in the Crawford theatre, and will unquestionably be the talk of El Paso after its first presentation.—Adv.

THE SHRINERS SHOW. The committee in charge of the Shriner's entertainment, which is to be presented at the El Paso theatre the latter part of March, requests all those who took part in the entertainment last year to meet Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock at 214 Herald building.—Adv.

TO GET ENGINEER FOR SARAGOSA MINE

Judge J. F. Ross, of Pecos, Tells of Discovery of Texas Gold Mine Through Mud on Shoes.

For the purpose of securing a mining engineer to pass on the property of the Saragosa Gold Mining company, 12 miles from Saragosa, Tex., Judge J. F. Ross, of Pecos, and H. (Stump) Robbins, of Saragosa, are in El Paso. Arrangements are to be made with E. Kohlmeier to do the work.

Judge Ross gives an interesting history of the discovery of the mine. "One year ago T. M. Wilson, a farmer in that section started drilling for a well on his land, 12 miles southeast of Saragosa. He drilled a hole three feet in diameter and drove it down to a depth of 93 feet, but could not get sufficient water. His children had been near the place and walking around in the mud, had come into the house with what was supposed to be ore, sticking to their shoes. "Stump" Robbins was at the house one day, heard of this and secured some of the ore, sent it to El Paso and had it assayed. Then he purchased the 640 acre section from Wilson for $15 an acre.

"Shortly thereafter he organized the Saragosa Gold Mining company with capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into shares of $1 each and incorporated under the laws of Arizona. Mr. Robbins is the president; C. M. Honaker, president of the Toyah Valley State bank at Saragosa, is vice president, and the directors are: W. D. Cowan, T. H. Beauchamp, F. Woody Johnson, Geo. B. Landrum and James F. Ross, of Pecos, and R. L. King, of Balmorhea, and H. Robbins, of Saragosa.

"Already 15 assays have been made showing that the ore runs up to 12.3 ounces of gold and five ounces of silver from a mere trace. It is only a question of quantity. The shaft is being sunk 30 feet, and is 5-12 feet by 10-12 feet. No stock is being sold and as much money as is required will be expended in maintaining the value of the property. If it proves that it is worth development then it will be developed. "The property is located 12 miles southeast of Saragosa, on a good road, and there will be no difficulty in hauling ore, if it is there. Saragosa itself is 243 miles from El Paso in Reeves county."
